

An Editorial

(The below comments necessarily are based on presumably reliable news reports since the opinion of the special three judge federal district court has not yet been printed or otherwise available to us.)

Mental Dishonesty

No really thoughtful man could have expected that the U. S. Special District Court, which yesterday handed down its decision, would do other than declare that "interposition is not a constitutional doctrine". Equally, many of the statutes passed by the current Louisiana special legislative session were certain to be ruled unconstitutional.

But Judges Richard T. Rives, Herbert W. Christenberry and J. Skelly Wright went much further. They ordered, in effect, that a legislator not vote his conviction, that certain persons not bring suit, whether the suit was in good faith or not or whether the plaintiff could or could not win on the merits of the case. They tried to weasel-word this by saying, "There is no effort to restrain the Louisiana Legislature as a whole, or any individual legislator, in the performance of a legislative function. It is only insofar that they, as well as all others concerned, are sought to be restrained from implementing measures which are ALLEGED to violate the Constitution". They still restrained them from actions which in the court's own opinion "are admittedly in an area peculiarly reserved for EXCLUSIVE state action".

If it is "peculiarly reserved for EXCLUSIVE state action", the federal court obviously has no authority. Their justification is also a farce: "we know that the sole object of the legislation is to deprive colored citizens of a right conferred on them by the Constitution of the United States." The judges don't KNOW, they may think, as this editor does, what prompted any individual legislator's vote, but, without KNOWING what prompted EVERY legislator's vote, they can't possibly KNOW why any legislation is passed. For their information we suggest the judges compare Hammer v. Dagenhart, 247 U. S. 251 (1918) and Bailey v. Drexel Furniture Co., 259 U. S. 20 (1922) from the latter of which we quote the COURT approvingly quoting Veazie Bank vs. Fenn, 8 Wall. 533: "It is insisted, however, that the tax in the case before us is excessive, and so excessive as to indicate a purpose on the part of Congress to destroy the franchise of the bank, and is, therefore, beyond the constitutional power of Congress. The first answer to this is that the judicial can not prescribe to the legislative departments of the government limitations upon the exercise of its acknowledged powers."

We also suggest that the three self-righteous judges read the case of United States vs. Darby, 312 U. S. 100 (1941) which specifically overruled Hammer vs. Dagenhart and in which Mr. Justice Stone's Opinion of the Court in relation to Hammer vs. Dagenhart, supra, reads as follows: "The thesis of the opinion (the Hammer case) that the motive of the prohibition or its effect to control . . . can operate to deprive the regulation of its constitutional authority has long since ceased to have force."

In the limited time available we have not been able to find the Supreme Court opinion from which the district court, according to the Associated Press, quoted in saying: "constitutional power cannot be used by way of condition to attain an unconstitutional end". In any event it has no bearing for no "condition" is attached to the state's right to abolish ANY OR ALL public education.

Furthermore it is impossible to declare a concurrent resolution, which by its nature does not purport to be law, unconstitutional. Why don't judges grow up!

Finally the judges fall back on Chief Justice John Marshall, who died in 1835, and of whom four Harvard University law professors in their book on Constitution Law wrote: "John Adams showed much in their book on Constitution Law when he selected Marshall as Chief Justice in 1801". We concur with their comment. Marshall wrote the opinion in Marbury vs. Madison, 1 Cranch 137, wherein he was of the court in Marbury vs. Madison, without basis, the concept of "judicial supremacy". Our three federal judges played "politics" and "pride" in ordering a temporary injunction, and a judge who so acts does not fulfill our concept of "judicial" and should be impeached and found guilty.

Dictatorship is dictatorship. That it is judicial dictatorship only makes it more deplorable because of the pedestal on which, perhaps mistakenly, we have placed our judiciary.

Bishops Gerow, Brunini Dedicate Parish School

The new Our Lady of the Gulf elementary school was officially dedicated Sunday during ceremonies witnessed by hundreds of parishioners, school and church officials.

The Most Rev. R. O. Gerow, bishop of the Natchez-Jackson diocese, dedicated the school. The Most Rev. Joseph Brunini, auxiliary bishop of the diocese, also participated in the ceremonies as did the Rt. Rev. Martin Moloney, pastor of Our Lady of the Gulf parish.

A program was held in the school cafeteria following the ceremony. The 270 chairs in the cafeteria were filled and many guests to hear educators and church leaders speak.

Joseph G. McCarty, county superintendent of education, the first speaker, stated that this was a happy occasion for the county and he is happy over the completion received from the new school.

Rep. Clarence M. Jones said the new school marks progress for the county. The Rt. Rev. Michael McCarthy, former pastor of the parish, congratulated the officials and the members of the parish for the progress reflected in the opening of the school. Bishop Gerow and Bishop Brunini both lauded the pastor and the parish, reminding them that continued help will be needed to help pay for the building.

Magr. Moloney thanked the parishioners for all their sacrifices that are making the school possible and the public school officials for their cooperation.

Then he commented on the color of the new school - green. He said that in the church green signified hope and that in this school it stands for the hope and wishes for future generations.

The pastor joked that it also stands for the hope that the people will support the school and that "green" backs will be needed to pay for the building. He said he has also been reminded that with his Irish heritage.

To Be Complete by 1963

Revise Phone Listings

A revised numbering system for new installations, changes of address or class of service will begin today for the Bay St. Louis, Pass Christian, Gulfport, Biloxi and Ocean Springs exchanges. J. C. Dabney, area group manager for Southern Bell Telephone Co., has announced. The change has been announced. The change pattern for Logansport and Van Cleave will be disclosed later.

The changeover to the all number calling plan will put these telephone listings on an all-number basis with no letters.

For the present, subscribers whose telephones now carry two letters and five digits will remain as they are except those who have their service moved or changed to a different class. In the latter instance, the new number assigned will be all numbers. The changeover to ANC will be gradual and it is hoped to complete the all-numbering plan by 1963.

Dabney said the shift should not materially inconvenience any present telephone subscribers but bring better telephone service to the entire coast.

To Seek Bids In January

KILN ROAD PROJECT - Board of Supervisors confer with J. F. Brownlee, district highway Engineer, on condemnation proceedings necessary for construction of the new Kiln Highway. Seated are Sam L. Favre Jr., board attorney; Brownlee, R. G. Hubbard, Jr., board president; Claiborne J. Ladner, clerk; standing: James Necaise, Charles Lavinghouse, Ike M. Frierson and Charles Russ, board members.

Construction of the new million dollar Kiln Highway will be under way by next summer, State District Engineer J. F. Brownlee said in an interview after a special meeting with the board of supervisors Wednesday.

Plans have been completed but work has been delayed because of difficulty in obtaining necessary easements or right-of-ways.

Sam L. Favre, Jr., board attorney, said today that all necessary easements had been obtained except three and that two condemnation proceedings had been filed and he expected to file the third next week.

Brownlee said advertisement for bids for construction of the highway, which will be built and maintained by the state, will be taken in January and will represent an outlay of nearly a million dollars in construction. The new 10-mile strip of Rt. 603 will have three concrete bridges, one over the Jordan River, Bayou La-Croix and Bayou Talla. Bridges over the Jordan and Bayou La-Croix will have 16-foot clearance for boats, he said. It will also eliminate present dangerous sharp curves and will intersect U. S. 90 at Nicholson Avenue.

The present highway is said to be over 100 years old. It was originally a shell road and was blacktopped by the WPA in 1938. The highway department passed an order last Jan. 12 approving the construction, maintenance and upkeep of the roadway.

Defraud Charges Dismissed

Charges were dismissed in U. S. District Court in Memphis, Tenn., Saturday against three men charged with conspiracy to defraud some 25 residents of Hancock and other south Mississippi counties in connection with building loans.

Judge M. S. Boyd ruled, after eight days of testimony, that the government had erred in binding 14 charges into one case.

Freed were Paul J. Embler, Jackson, Fabian E. Buquet of New Orleans and Marshall Joseph Sylvia, currently serving time for forgery in Louisiana's state prison. Buquet is not to be confused with Fabian E. Buquet, Jr., see editorial, Style Change, on Page 2.

The government had charged that Buquet and Sylvia had talked people in rural areas of south Mississippi into applying for Federal Housing Authority (FHA) loans. It added that the salesmen had offered false credit information.

Sellers Bids Held, Push Gulfview Job

The county board of education deferred action on two bids on the old Sellers School property Saturday, pending an inspection of the plant to determine its condition and value.

The bids, cited by board president Charles Murphy as being low, are to be held until the Dec. 5 meeting. Bidders were D. K. Martin, $7,200.50 and Elliott Bros., $8,356.

Mrs. C. C. McDonald, vice president of the board, moved that the bids be taken under consideration and said she will take a group of people out to the school to study its present condition including the extent of deterioration, damage by vandalism and so forth.

The board authorized for architect Fred Wagner to prepare plans for the remodeling of the Gulfview School to provide more classroom space. The action came after Mrs. McDonald exhibited preliminary plans prepared by Wagner. The plan involves removal of the stage in the one classroom and partitioning of that room into two classrooms. It also calls for the closing off of a short corridor to make a principal's office.

Mrs. McDonald said the architect told her the work would cost between $2,500 and $3,000. The additional classroom would help to relieve the overcrowded situation at the school, she explained, adding that with the additional space the class now meeting in the gym could move into the room.

The gym class to makeshift and it is costly heating the large gym for the one class, Mrs. McDonald told the other board members.

Khayat Hearing Slated Dec. 10

Toffie Khayat of Pascagoula, arrested last Tuesday near Kiln on charges of possession and transporting of liquor, is scheduled to appear before Justice of the Peace Nelson Rhodes Dec. 10.

According to Rhodes Khayat was released on $500 bond.

Khayat, arrested by Beat 4 Constable Jervie Marron, was to appear before Justice of the Peace Frank A. Selph but due to Judge Selph's ill health the case has been transferred to Rhodes.

Ask Businesses To Assist Mail For Yule Rush

With the rush of Christmas mailings, Postmaster Andy J. Becker this week asked business firms to cooperate and delay mailing circulars and catalogs until after Dec. 25 to allow holiday mail material to be processed rapidly.

Becker urged mailing of Christmas cards and gifts for out of town destinations by Dec. 10. Those for nearby points should be mailed by Dec. 15 or at least a week before Christmas.

Postal patrons can avoid standing in line to mail packages and buy stamps by going to the Postoffice before 10 a.m. or between 1:30 p.m. and 3 p.m.

Legion Children's Party is Dec. 23

The annual Christmas program for children of the county given by the Clement Bonhomme Post 139, American Legion, will take place Dec. 23, Andy J. Becker, co-chairman, has announced.

The event will get under way at 1 p.m. at the Star Theater when a special feature movie will be shown, courtesy of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Scadd, and popcorn will be given to the youngsters.

Following the movie, Santa Claus is scheduled to arrive by seaplane at the Legion Home. After landing he will wade ashore to distribute gifts to the children. Becker recalled that last year 1,800 children participated in the event and even more are anticipated this year. Felix Seegant is co-chairman with Becker.

Also on the Legion's holiday calendar is the Christmas party which the auxiliary will have at its regular meeting Monday, Dec. 12. Each member is to take a gift to exchange and an ornament to decorate the tree. The party

In other Legion activities, Commander Frank Tocaal asked persons with rocks to donate for the post's pier and harbor project to either dump them at the home or call the post any day after 2 p.m. to have the rocks picked up. The rocks will be used to form a retaining wall.

Mrs. John Rutherford, auxiliary president, has announced that the unit does not give five year pins to qualifying members, that the pins can be bought. Ten year pins are given but only for 10 unbroken years.

Subdivision Ordinance Proposed for County

A subdivision ordinance governing the county at large appears in the office.

R. G. Hubbard Jr., president of the board of supervisors, proposed such a step when the county officials met Monday morning and other supervisors seemed inclined to go along with him.

Hubbard broached the subject after a request was received from August Perez and Associates of New Orleans for zoning regulations and other data pertinent to subdivision development as the firm has been retained for some projects here.

Clerk Claiborne Lodner was directed to inform Perez that local regulations apply only in Bay St. Louis and Waveland. Attorney Sam L. Favre Jr., noted a permit is needed from the State Water Commission to drill wells and this aspect was referred to Alliston.

Hubbard recalled that several years ago he had proposed a county ordinance to supervisors in office at that time without much response and said he thought the board should get busy on the topic now. Otherwise, he observed, unregulated growth may hinder the development on the coast at large.

He suggested that the county might want to model its ordinance after that used by St. Tammany Parish in Louisiana and Supervisor I. M. Frierson said he would try to secure a copy.

Supervisors noted the difficulties created when subdivisions leave it up to them to maintain roads and the like which do not meet specifications. Hubbard complained that with 15 bridges in Beat 5 alone he faces a considerable problem. The bridges have to be replaced over in two years time at excessive cost.

Think About It

What Mississippi member of the U. S. House of Representatives is going to lose his seat as a result of the reapportionment of the state required by the U. S. Constitution as a result of the 1960 census and Mississippi's resultant loss of one of its six congressmen?

This is due to the reasonable requirement of our federal constitution, Article I, Section 2, that "Representatives and direct Taxes shall be apportioned among the several States . . . according to their respective Numbers . . ." and "The actual Enumeration shall be made within every subsequent Term of Ten Years . . ." Amendment XIV states: "Representatives shall be apportioned among the several States according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each State, excluding Indians not taxed."

Congressmen can be elected either "at large", meaning that they are elected by the vote of all in the state who go to the polls, or, as is the almost unanimous practice, elected from geographical districts of the state set up by the state legislature.

By statute the law provides that, where congressmen are elected by districts, congressional districts shall be as nearly equal in population as feasible. When, after the 1930 census, the legislature of Virginia failed to follow this provision and set out districts that were not reasonably similar in population, candidates for the Virginia delegation to the U. S. House of Representatives were forced to run "at large". For this reason we do not have quite the fear expressed in the editorial from Pascagoula Chronicle-Star, reprinted on this page, that the Mississippi legislature will overlook the population factor.

We believe the feature story from the Mobile, Ala., Press-Register, also reprinted here, deserves real study. Alabama is faced with the same problem of loss of a representative as is Mississippi. Alabama also has a redistricting problem for representation in the state legislature as do we.

It is entirely possible that the more populous areas, under represented in our state legislature in congressional redistricting now may have a lever to force more equitable representation at the state level. Certainly the over represented counties would not willingly go along with an "at large" election for all of our U.S. Congressmen.

Worth thinking about!

Style Change

Each newspaper or periodical has its own style of punctuation, of capitalization, of word usage and even of spelling (theater or theatre, thru or through). Local practice frequently is the decisive factor.

Recently the Echo stopped following the practice of most local people in using the abbreviation of senior, sr., after a proper name. There were four reasons for the change.

In the first place it is not generally done in this country. Neither of our major news services, AP and UPI, follow that style.

Secondly, it is redundant and means nothing, since a fictional John Smith is still the same John Smith with or without sr. added. It is his sons of the same name that need to be distinguished by jr. or III, etc. No one refers to Mrs. Franklin Delano Roosevelt as Mrs. Franklin Delano Roosevelt, sr., although there is a junior (jr.).

Thirdly, it saves us time and space, even if only a few characters are involved in sr.

Fourth, and most important, it eliminates one possible mistake in identification through a typographical error. It is too easy by accident to print jr. for sr.

We hope our readers who prefer a different style will not be too upset at our change.

Ministers Goof

"WHY CLOSE THE STORES ON SUNDAY?" reads the head on a full page ad in Tuesday's Gulfport Daily Herald. The ad was approved, or so it reads, by some 37 members of the Gulf Coast Ministerial Association. The answer to their question is simple: religion.

It is for the same reason, religion, that any forceful closing by legal authority of stores on Sunday as such is probably itself unlawful because it would violate the U. S. Constitution's tacit requirement of freedom of religion.

Stores closing on Sunday because people don't buy on that day is a different thing and one within the province of ministers of most Christian denominations. (In addition to Judaism some Christian denominations adhere to the earlier meaning of Sabbath and honor it on the seventh, rather than first, day of the week, Saturday.)

On the other hand ministers of all faiths and denominations should ardently oppose any laws attempting to enforce religious practices, since to do otherwise is to oppose "freedom of religion".

By Gone Days

15 YEARS AGO

Nov. 30, 1945—Jack Whitney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Whitney, scored highest for the prettiest and most popular girl on the Kilm School campus in the recent popularity contest. Roy Cuevas, son of Aras Cuevas, was chosen the most handsome and most popular boy.

25 YEARS AGO

Nov. 29, 1925—Adopting a set of resolutions protesting a plan to change the name of the county, principals of Hancock County schools, except Bay St. Louis and Waveland, separate school districts, have declared county schools will be closed after Friday if cash for pay is not coming forth. Gov. Coe and the legislature are charged with being politicalized to the extent the touching treasury have suffered unduly with a $4 million surplus lying idle in the treasury. The resolution was adopted by the Hancock County Board of Supervisors, principal of Calhoun School and chairman of the executive committee of principals.

Rambling Roses And Flying Bricks

By LAIL FUCHER

Last week a group of us drove to Hot's Lake camp and had a time. In fact, we always do, in one way or another.

We had talked until about eleven in the evening and were getting ready to go to bed when one of the fellows, an out-of-state guest of one of the hunting club members, came out of a bedroom and said he had found some chameleons. It kind of worried me for a time, on account of I thought a chameleon was a Yankee name for a bed bug. I rushed into the room and saw what he was talking about. What a chameleon is is a green lizard and we have had trouble with green lizards for years and years, although we didn't know they were chameleons or I reckon we could have done something about them. I remember once I wrote the Department of Agriculture in Washington to send me a pamphlet on how to get rid of green lizards and enclosed 25c in coins or stamps and never heard a word from them. I realize now I should have used the word chameleon instead of green lizard, but I still think the government owes me 25c, and next year I may deduct that amount when I send in my income tax return. That might teach them something about green lizards.

ROOM WAS FULL

Actually, the room was full of chameleons, hereinafter referred to as green lizards so you ignorant southerners will know what I'm talking about. Well, we started killing green lizards. Everybody got a weapon. Some had brooms, some had mops, some had boat paddles, and some had frying pans. Everybody was trying to kill lizards, and you never saw such wild swinging in all of your born days. The room was fairly small and naturally a lot of lizards got missed and a lot of people got hit. We broke two brooms and the mop, which didn't matter too much on account of we hardly ever use brooms and mops down there, but we also broke a couple of boat paddles.

LET FLY

He was running around, shaking his broom out, and he presented me with an opportunity I had always fleetingly awaited. I had a 12-inch frying pan and when he was looking the other way, I made out like I had spotted the intruding lizard and, brother, I let him have it! It more than made up for all the times I have had to slow down when I saw a sheriff's car, or for all the uneasiness I have felt on various occasions when I had a bottle hid in the glove compartment of my car.

What congressman will be out?

Battle lines are already being drawn on the problem of redistricting the state at the 1962 legislative session made necessary by the loss of one of our six congressmen.

The self-named "Independent Democrats" have strongly intimated they will be out to get one of two congressmen who supported the national Democratic ticket in the general election.

The two are Frank Smith of the Delta 3rd District and Thomas G. Abernathy of the northeast 1st.

Plan would be to reshuffle counties so the two would oppose each other in the 1963 primary in which one would lose.

If that is done, it means there will be no redistricting based on population, as should be the case.

If the population factor prevailed, the 1st, 2nd and 5th Districts would be consolidated and divided into two.

Here's why:

The three districts are composed of 42 counties, all but eight of which the latter won and ended Ran-showed substantial population decrease in the 1960 census. Those figures show a total population of 893,369, compared with 956,800 in 1950, a decrease of 63,431. Total state population dropped only 773.

The other three districts as presently constituted all showed gains and had a total population figure of 1,287,990 in 40 counties.

Therefore, if the above course was followed each of the state's five districts would have about the same average population.

But for several reasons we suspect politics and not population will be the deciding factor in the redistricting.

In the first place, two northeast districts were consolidated after the 1950 census when Mississippi lost a congressman. This forced John Ran-

Loss Of House Seat Puts Pressure On Members Of Alabama Legislature

In Congress—two senators and eight House members in Alabama new after 1962.

The die is now cast—officially. The Bureau of the Census has formally confirmed what everybody had anticipated, and feared, for the past several months. Alabama will lose one of its seats in the U.S. House of Representatives, reducing this state's representation in

What this means is some of the most high-powered politics seen in Alabama in a long, long time. Next year, 1961, will be the last year. The play-ter-keeps politics will be induced by two simple facts: (1) Loss of a seat in the U.S. House necessitates a rearrangement of the state's congressional districts, and (2) the redistricting in itself is not the sole issue, but rather creates a condition that encompasses many other issues and factors whose ramifications extend throughout the arena of politics and government.

Established spheres of influence, portending a shift of power, old and potentially new political approaches, relationships of county courthouse regimens—all these will be involved. And, perhaps the most important factor of all, the wisdom or the folly of reapportionment of the state Legislature itself will become an issue in greater focus than ever before.

The onerous responsibility of looking this redistricting job falls, constitutionally, to the Legislature. Before the congressional elections of 1962, it is the Legislature's task to establish the boundaries of Alabama's eight congressional districts. The present nine districts have been in existence for 29 years, and the relationships of political practices and practicalities of county to county within their own districts firmly have taken root.

It won't be easy to yank up a root here and transplant it there.

The Legislature comes face to face with the reality of redistricting next May. That's the only regular session scheduled between now and the 1962 congressional elections, and even if Gov. Patterson sought to hold a special session for the purpose of redistricting, the issue would still be considered and fought in the regular session.

One fact is certain: Where Alabama now has nine congressmen, there will be only eight when the Congress convenes in January, 1963. One of the present incumbents, all of whom want to stay in Congress, will not be a congressman then. Who will it be? Every one of them will be working tooth and

At a certain point on the posterior anatomy of our high sheriff can be seen the words, "Use Daisy Brand Kitchenware."

Actually, we killed and swept out 133 lizards. The reason I counted 'em was because a lot of folks, including you, might think I was lying.

Two of the fellows had to sleep in the lizard room. The next morning they said they hadn't slept very well. Lots of people have trouble sleeping away from home.

A diet without milk is low in calcium. To get the same amount of calcium that you get from a quart of milk, you would need to eat one of these amounts of food:

6 ounces of cheddar cheese, 5 cups cottage cheese, 15 carrots, 25 cups string beans, 146 bananas, 210 lettuce leaves, 77 slices of bread (4 loaves), 37 eggs, 5 pounds celery, 24 medium oranges.

Be sure that every member of your family has the milk he needs each day. Children need three to four glasses, teenagers four or more glasses and adults two or more glasses. Of course, they can get some of it from cheese, ice cream and other milk-made foods.

Did you know? We eat more calories per person annually than any one of the other popular tree nuts, including pecans and walnuts.

IS BLUING NECESSARY

Bluing was necessary laundry aid in old fashioned laundry work. Water was hard, there were few softeners and home-makers knew little about their use. Bluing was also necessary when homemade soap was the only known laundry soap.

White cloth appears white only if a slight blue is added to the final finish. In the light, the cloth

Bluing operates on the same principle. Today, if your clothes are well washed in softened water with good detergent (either soap or synthetic), no bluing is necessary. The gray of deposited soap scum is only covered by bluing - never removed by it.

USE CRANBERRIES

Add tiny cubes of canned jelled cranberry sauce to a favorite chicken salad, for appealing color and tempting flavor. Add chopped fresh cranberries to your meat loaf or meat balls.

Glaze your next meat loaf with a mixture of crushed whole cranberry sauce and brown sugar. To make the loaf add 1 1/2 cups cooked rice to a favorite meat loaf recipe. Bake for several hours during baking with cranberry sauce sugar mixture. Perch green tinted peas or slices atop slices of cranberry sauce. Serve on shredded salad greens and top with whipped or cream cheese.

CONFERENCE ON GROUND WATER - J. Norton Haas, Jr., left, discusses ground water problems during a meeting in Bay St. Louis yesterday, one of 20 held simultaneously throughout the state. August Scaffidi, center, served as chairman for the meeting. County Agent O. O. Swards, right, secretary of the local ground water problems committee.

Well Drilling Permits Urged At Water Resources Meeting

The necessity for the issuance of permits before a water well can be drilled was stressed yesterday during a two-county ground water problems meeting in Bay St. Louis.

The session, with representatives from Hancock and Harrison Counties, was one of 20 such meetings held simultaneously throughout the state called by the Mississippi Board of Water Commissioners as a result of a continuing drop in the water table in recent years.

Phone Change...

(Cont. from Page 1.) It will enable faster dialing since there will be no letters to worry about, dialing a call. He agreed that numbers are easier and quicker to find on the dial, according to scientific tests. Attention need not be switched from letters to numbers.

Since there are no central office names with all number calling, there is no chance for misspelling or misunderstanding names. ANC also avoids the confusion people sometime have between using the letter O, and the numeral zero and between the letter I and the numeral 1.

Eventually facilities will be provided which will permit coast subscribers to dial their own long distance calls. The changeover to the all number calling plan is another step in that direction. Customers indicate it is easier to dial all numerals than to dial first the numerals of an area, then two letters and then back to numerals again.

Ultimately, when all the nation's telephones have changed to the All Number Calling Plan, your dial plate can be simplified by removing the letters and making the numbers larger. The number of characters on your dial would be thus reduced from 34 (24 letters and 10 numbers) to just 10 numbers. This will make your dialing even easier, faster and more accurate.

Each subscriber on these coast exchanges who now has a telephone number made up of two letters and five digits will retain the last five digits he now has when the changeover to the all number calling plan has been completed and only the two letters will be changed to two numbers.

In Bay St. Louis HO 7-0000 will be 467 0000, Pass Christian GL 2 0000 will be 452 0000 and Ocean Springs TR 5 0000 will be 875 0000.

This meeting was the second of a series, the first being in September to gather initial information on the problem. Data from these meetings was compiled by the state board and a list of conclusions and recommendations was distributed throughout the meetings yesterday.

Representatives at the session here discussed the state recommendations and added some of their own particularly relating to this area.

The proposals are:

1. Development of a program to inventory the water resources of the state.

2. Application of measures to correct conditions that are presently polluting some water supplies. Steps must be taken to prevent additional wells from being drilled in the future.

3. Adequate funds for responsible agencies to provide sources of information for the public about inter-relationship between surface and ground water. The local committee added that this should be done by existing agencies rather than have more agencies created costing the taxpayer more money.

4. Consideration of measures to provide means to shut off the flow of all abandoned flowing wells and providing all future wells drilled with means for controlling the flow. The Hancock and Harrison County men further recommended that permits calling for such measures should be required before drilling starts.

5. Consideration of means to properly fill all abandoned test holes, water wells and other sources where pollution may be introduced into the ground water supplies. The local group said already existing agencies should police abandoned wells to see that this is done. It was noted that agencies such as the Mississippi Marine Conservation Commission could do this type of enforcement.

6. A responsible agency with sufficient funds to enact a program to encourage methods of re-use of cooling water to conserve future supplies. The local committee added that water used for air conditioning or industrial cooling could be re-used for other industrial needs.

7. A program to provide sufficient technical data on ground water resources to facilitate proper planning of the spacing of future wells. Again the local group called for issuance of permits to enforce the spacing of deep and shallow wells.

A means to determine the source of the salt water that has been found in the water wells, provide a periodic check in areas near salt water disposal wells to determine effects and study ways of developing industrial use of salt brines that are now causing disposal and other problems. The committee here said the oil and gas board should be made responsible for this task.

Engineer J. Norton Haas Jr., discussed with the local ground water problems committee. August Scaffidi is chairman of the local group and O. O. Swards, county agent, is secretary.

Planning Hearing Due Soon

A public hearing on the adoption of a subdivision regulation ordinance for Bay St. Louis will be conducted shortly after the first of the year, Mayor John Scaffidi announced following a meeting of the City Planning Commission Friday night.

On motion of Andy J. Becker, a revised set of plans was unanimously adopted after Chairman H. H. Shattuck pointed out the changes that had been made in the plans by Robert Barman, city planning consultant from Mobile, Ala. The changes had been approved at a meeting of the commission Aug. 30.

Scaffidi pledged every effort of Commission Council for matching funds from the A and I Planning Program which includes street programs, zoning, electric codes, etc. "We expect to have approval of our application shortly after the first of the year so we can plan for a comprehensive program to be completed within about 18 months," he added.

Revisions in the plans include naming of streets, type of gravel, etc. They reduced street surfacing requirements from a hard surface permanent type of pavement to an all-weather type gravel base with a special assessment basis and that the jurisdiction of the commission be reduced to the corporate limits of Bay St. Louis instead of the proposed five miles beyond the limits.

Gas Meter Contract Let

P. Thompson Tool and Supply Co. of New Orleans was awarded contract to supply some 200 gas meters to be installed here in the next ten months when Bay St. Louis Commission Council met Monday morning.

Thompson Co.'s low bid was $28.80 per meter. The only other bid was from Rockwell Manufacturing Co. of Atlanta, Ga. at $30.29 a meter, $29.64 per unit.

City Commissioners Warren Traub and J. Cyril Glover explained the meters will replace worn units and be installed for new customers.

The school, constructed at a cost of $250,000 includes 13 classrooms for students from kindergarten through sixth grade, a large cafeteria, modern kitchen, faculty lounges, administrative offices and storage and workroom facilities. A tour of the school was conducted following the program.

Dean Robert Talks to Rotary On Education

James M. Robert, dean emeritus of Tulane University's School of Engineering, was the guest speaker at Rotary's luncheon meeting yesterday. In a talk interspersed with humorous anecdotes, the dean pointed to the changes in education in this country during the 54 years since he began teaching.

Dean Robert emphasized that the country grew great under the leadership of men who went to the little red one room school. The current, and complained of, high cost of public education, according to the speaker, can in part be attributed to the fact there are few dedicated teachers left with the result that teachers' pay has risen rapidly, but that the trimmings such as free lunches, free books, gymnasium, etc. (in an area where 90 per cent of the year olds can play outdoors) and similar gloss are responsible for a large part of the increased cost.

Apparently referring to the school integration problem, the dean added that perhaps the current trend to privately operated schools with less of the trimmings may improve the education and increase the comradeship and self reliance of these pupils.

Yule Mail...

"It's later than you think" he declared. "Let's not wait until mid-December to get your Christmas cards and gifts in the mail. By taking action now, you'll avoid disappointing friends and loved ones at Christmas time."

old Sellers school gym and suggested these might be transferred to Gulfview to help relieve heating problems there until a more permanent solution can be provided.
Mrs. McDonald pointed out that the proposed remodeling work will help. On her recommendation a motion was passed providing that the $2,000 from the sale of the Leetown school will go into the building fund to help pay for the Gulfview work.
Also discussed was the possibility of using former students as drivers for county school buses. N. G. McCarty, superintendent, noted this is being done in some other counties and said he would study this possibility for the county.
Mrs. McDonald pointed out that if a boy at 18 years of age is given the responsibility of driving a school bus, he should be given this responsibility in school.

Total assets of Hancock General Hospital were listed as $707,696.81 through the fiscal year ending Sept. 30 in the annual audit presented to the county board of supervisors last Wednesday by administrator Thomas O. Logue.
Logue reported the general financial picture "looks very good". Questioned about the $42,336.36 due the hospital in accounts receivable, he observed that some accounts included in the amount are "old bills left over from the old hospital", some are state aid and hospitalization insurance accounts and the remainder are in the process of being collected.
The board approved transfer $9,042.03 from the improvement and replacement fund to the building and special equipment fund administered by the hospital board of trustees. Logue cited immediate need for purchase of a cruet, new x-ray tube and an x-ray film dryer, noting that x-ray work done in the hospital has increased beyond his expectations. Then, he requested permission for the hospital to construct a 15x20 foot concrete block building to house the water pump, which he said was exposed to the weather and should be protected, and landscaping equipment.
Supervisor E. F. Friserson, seconded by Supervisor Puss, moved permission be granted.
Of the $9,042.03, Logue said after erection of the building and purchase of the mentioned equipment, balance would be put in reserve.
The audit revealed there have been $867.73 received in general contributions and $34,514.00 from government grants.
Net revenue from services to patients was $111,381.10.
Bryan Carter, auditor for the hospital, remarked, Logue noted, that the financial status of the hospital is better than any other hospital in the area.

County Agent Notes

By O. O. Swords

DAIRY NOTES
Make sure that your dairy cows are fully conditioned prior to milking. This will make higher milk production. Make sure your hay is of high quality and that the cows get plenty of it. Remember, the more high quality hay a cow will eat, the less grain she will require. Hay is cheaper than grain. Make your cows pay. For more information, call your local county agent.

WINTERIZE FARM MACHINERY
Don't let your machinery "get lost" this winter. First make sure that your tractor that you plan to use for the winter has the water drained out of the radiator. If you are going to use your tractor during the winter, put some anti-freeze in the radiator. Re-tighten the water pump before you have a hard freeze. A calcium chloride solution can be used in the radiator to prevent freezing. Check your operator's manual or see your dealer for instructions.

FIRE LANES
Protect your frosted grass. If fire gets in your dry grass pastures, you will find it is mighty hard to stop. The best idea is to disk or plow fire lanes between all public roads and pastures and between woods and pastures.

Blair Book Among Library Buys
Diving for Pleasure and Treasure, a book written by Clay Blair, formerly of Bay St. Louis, is one of several purchased for the City-County Memorial Library during November. Mrs. Francis Wilson, librarian, announced.

The author is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Drury Blair of Bay St. Louis and New Orleans. He received some of his education in local schools.

Mrs. Wilson said she has written three or four other books, but that the others are more technical and do have to be acquired for the local library. He is currently an editor on the staff of Saturday Evening Post and recently authored a series on the Nautilus Atomic submarine in the Life magazine.

This latest book, which Mrs. Wilson said has popular public appeal, was published this fall.

Among the other books added in November are:

- Adult fiction: Fall Guy - Harry Pilgrims in Paradise - Slaughter; The Dean's Watch - Galt; The Ballad of Peckham - Ford - Spark and Where's There's a Will - Peters.
- Adult non-fiction: The Day Clark Was Born - Bishop and The Book of Decoration - Andrews.

Adults: Hunters of Space - Edmund Marjorie Thurman, Lab Cochrane; Cochrane; Little Boy's Favorite Party - Jander; The Favorite Stories, New and Old - Grunberg.

Loyal Order of the Moose
Lodge being formed in Hancock County is nearing the number of members needed to secure a charter and hopes to be instituted as a lodge this month.

George Banks, state Moose special representative who has been working with the group of Hancock County men interested in having a lodge here, said the institution day should be by the middle of the month.

The Gulfport Moose Lodge ritual team has been asked to conduct the ceremony.

Banks said an important organizational meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. Monday in Ray's Restaurant on Ulman Avenue. Men who have joined to date are being urged to attend and bring any prospective members with them. Further plans will be made for the institution ceremony.

James Mayfield of Waveland is serving as acting treasurer of the group and Jack E. Budd of Bay St. Louis was named Monday as an acting trustee. Persons interested in more information concerning the Loyal Order of Moose may contact Mayfield at HO 7-6435 or Budd at HO 7-5474 or HO 7-6311.

The Loyal Order of Moose, with lodges in all English speaking countries, is noted for its family protection program. Mooseheart City is operated for the children and widows of deceased members and Moose Haven is operated in Florida for retired Moose and their families.

MAKES FLOWERS - Mrs. Harry Swayne, a double amputee, makes and sells wax and plastic flowers and plants from her home to keep herself busy and help her forget her handicap.

Handicap Doesn't Halt This Woman's Hobby

Mrs. Harry Swayne, 505 Main St., who always loved dancing and getting around town, was confined to a wheel chair in 1958 following the amputation of one leg.

Since then the other leg also was amputated. But despite the handicap which made impossible her favorite activity, Mrs. Swayne is as busy and as jolly as any person could be.

Best in 1958, on returning home from the hospital, she found herself with nothing to do and little to look forward to. She finally started sewing, making aprons for friends and donating towels to help the hours and days pass as a little easier.

Then she remembered that as a child she had learned in school how to make flowers and had enjoyed it. She started with a few materials from about the house and yard, and her friends liked the flowers and started giving her orders for them.

Really getting into the swing of the expanding hobby she started buying other materials,

But, Mrs. Green recalled the other incident and admitted complete defeat and failure. A local person called her during a severe cold snap and wanted to know whether or not there would be a hard freeze that night. Mrs. Green inquired if the person owned a radio or television and suggested her giving her attention to weather forecasts. The caller said she did indeed own both, but somehow seemed to have a little more faith in Mrs. Green's weather predictions. It did not freeze that night, Mrs. Green, very observed, but through assistance nor fault nor meteorological mysticism of hers.

Wulda Gone Fishin'

BY EDDIE ENGELHORN

How much doing in the fishing line this week but things should be picked up by the coming weekend. Tuesday a cold front moved in from the north winds put the fish under wraps. Another front was expected to send the mercury down to the freezing point and while it was uncomfortable for the fishermen it should have been a good thing for the fish and make them willing to hit a lure trolled in the river or lake.

Actually every angler who fished over the weekend reported too much fish, minnows, etc., both in closed and open waters. The cold weather should make the little fish disappear and the fish means good fishing.

Fish are scarce now but it looks like good hunting weather conditions are here, need some rain. The ducks are here and haven't moved yet but they are keeping out in the open and haven't moved into the marshes yet.

We hear some local hunters were snooking up on a flock of geese on the mouth of the Jordan a couple of weeks ago when a seaplane flew off with a roar scattering the geese in all directions to the chagrin of the hunters who had no choice but go home empty handed. One of them was Charlie Schiama who says he is going out this weekend and the limit for sure.

He's Talking of Merganser

We hear that Charlie Poolson is the poule d'auk in these parts.

Doc Griffin says he was hunting on his pond last week with Wayne Allison and the other co-owners but there were too many poules - saw one mallard but when everybody started peppering the pond with shot the mallard took off like a jet plane.

Richard Schaeffer decided he wanted to hunt instead of fish and he took his daddy, Camille, to let him off on the banks of the Jordan while Camille, Jack Kramer and son John fished Sunday. Richard was the limit of fine ducks while the fishing party came back with a few drums and a couple of specks.

Professor Ingram of Mitchell Realty is readying a deer hunt; says he wants to bring home some meat when he goes out, not a few birds like Mitch does.

Joe and Janell Kern went with Marjorie Mitchell to Half Moon Bay and the other co-owners but there were too many poules - saw one mallard but when everybody started peppering the pond with shot the mallard took off like a jet plane.

Richard Schaeffer decided he wanted to hunt instead of fish and he took his daddy, Camille, to let him off on the banks of the Jordan while Camille, Jack Kramer and son John fished Sunday. Richard was the limit of fine ducks while the fishing party came back with a few drums and a couple of specks.

Wrestling Proves Popular

A packed house saw a relatively small Hawaiian topple a giant Mississippian Saturday night in the National Guard Armory.

To a background of catcalls urging Oni Wild-Wild to topple the big boy, Oni finally pinned Max Palmer to the mat in the feature match of the night. Max, who weighed in at 425 pounds, measures eight feet, two inches and is from Clarkdale. At one time during the opening tag team match he had at least three wrestlers on his back who were unable to down the big boy.

Wild-Wild, 33, is a graduate of the University of Honolulu. He is a champion swimmer - surf boarder and started wrestling at the age of 12. As all Hawaiians in the wrestling business are, he is familiar with jiu-jitsu, karate and judo.

At least one other performer was a college graduate, Bruce Austin, 27, a Mississippi Southern graduate. Wrestling is produced every other Saturday by the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Promoter is Rube Wright of Mobile.

Wilkerson Gets 1st Deer

Game Warden Nolan Ladner was full of news this week. He said regarding our report in a recent issue of illegal netting of fish in the Bay, George Bone, district superintendent of the Game and Fish Commission, announced that eight trammel nets and three fish traps had been confiscated by the commission recently in this area. Telephones, of course, are electric devices designed to kill or stun all fish in the area covered. The fish are then picked up from the water's surface. As to netting in the Bay outside the limit covered by the commission it seems nothing can be done but it seems to us there should be some restriction against netting where people fish with rods and reels.

As to deer hunting Nolan reports the first deer of the year was killed by Marks Wilkerson. No further information could be had by Billie Breland of the Merchants Bank promised to get it for us. He also says he saw just about the prettiest green trout ever, an eight and a half pound beauty caught by P. E. Gressin in a lake near Poplarville. Also saw a six and a half pounder caught by G. F. Baker in White's Bayou near Pearlington.

Hunting and fishing licenses are going like mad, Nolan said, having sold more than 100 himself this month.

I'LL TAKE YOU' ALL ON - So says a wrestler as he leaves the ring at the National Guard Armory Saturday night to a chorus of boos for using unfair tactics.

The North Central B team walloped Gulfport's B squad 43-30 in the opener of the twin bill.

The teams fought on even terms for the first few minutes of play but the Commodores broke a 7-7 tie and were never headed for the rest of the game.

Ace scorer Douglas Necaise was kept well under wraps by the Gulfport guards and was unable to reach his usual top form. Berlin Necaise was high scorer with 17, Douglas and Calvin Shaw each got 16, Donald Necaise 7, McCoy Peterson 4 and O. J. Peterson 3.

Jimmy Favre paced the Hawks with 13.

Identification Cards Required For Solicitors

Hancock County Chamber of Commerce is alerting all county residents to demand a new type of identification all authorized magazine subscription solicitors must have.

Mrs. John Green, chamber secretary-manager, said yellow wallet size identification cards have been issued to bona fide solicitors by the Central Registry of Magazine Subscription Solicitors sponsored by Magazine Publishers Association Inc. of New York.

Previously magazine subscription solicitors in this area registered with either the Chamber of Commerce, Boy St. Louis chief of police or the mayor as do other solicitors. Now, however, this is not necessary with the new identification card certifying the solicitors as being official.

Mrs. Green said persons approached by solicitors should demand to see the card and should check the date of expiration, and name before buying from them.

Other solicitors may still be checked with the chamber, police department or the mayor.
